THE COST OF THE ARMY.

Uncle Sam Gets Less for His Money than Any Other Nation.

Springfield Republican,

The debate on the army appropriation bill excites no particular interest. Doubtless this is because the people feel that "we are in for it." The people, however, should be willing to hear at the proper time the facts regarding the cost of their army. Representative McClellan of New York has performed a service in this connection by presenting to the house a table showing the comparative cost of the United States army and the various European armies. Mr. McClellan finds that the appropriation of the current year for the military establishment amount to $135 297,6?3, exclusive of pensions. The United States army is now all counted, about 100,000 strong. Yet France spends only $1?5,000 on an army of 539,0?0, while Germany mantans 598,-000 soldiers of all grades on $130,-000,000.

United States soldiers cost more than European soldiers, because the rate of wages is higher in this country than abroad, and a soldier's pay corresponds to the general industrial conditions. In the second place, everything is done in this atmosphere, with the idea that the government has money to burn. In the third place congress has begun its career as a colonial power by paying to soldiers who serve in the Philippines, Cuba and Puerto Rico from 10 to 20 per cent more than to soldiers who serve on the North American continent. This forms a precedent which promises to make our army very expensive in the future, especially if the Philippines are held. A large force must be maintained there indefinitely, according to all accounts. It seems practically settled, barring a political revolution that the party in power will be distinguished in history for having fastened upon the American people the most expensive military establishment in the world. If that statement be disputed, then add the annual pension bill to the actual cost of the army in service and note the result.

FUNSTON HUNG 'EM.

Associated Press Dispatch.

Manila, April 9, 8:20 p. m.—An interesting topic of conversation in army circles is the investigation of Brigadier General Frederick Funston's execution of two Filipinos, and the possibility of a court-martial resulting therefrom. The story that the Filipinos captured three Macabebe scouts, who were crossing the country near San Isidro, and were preparing to kill them, when one of the Macabeees escaped and found General Funston with a scouting party near. This man guided the Americans to the rescue of his companions, and when the troops approached the Filipinos fled, leaving the Macabebes. Several of the Filipinos were shot and General Funston captured two of them, took them to the village square and hanged them without trial, as a warning to the Filipinos. The present method of warfare and instances of the mutilation of prisoners have incensed the American soldiers to such a degree that they feel like making reprisals which has been done on several occasions recently.

There is a strong feeling among the residents and friendly Filipinos that the Chinese general, Pana, who, as announced on March 31st, surrendered to Brigadier General Kobbe, after terrorizing the province of Panay should be severely punished. It is pointed out that his career has been more that of a brigand than that of a soldier, as he looted and extorted money by torture from wealthy natives and burned alive some of his followers who intended to desert him. It is believed Pana surrendered because he feared his own men and that he expected to be paroled, like other officers, and enjoy the fruits of his brigandage.

Industrial Schools for the Negroes of the South.

Atlanta, April 9—At a meeting of the representative citizens of Atlanta, held at the state capitol today, a movement was started to further the passage of the bill introduced into congress by Representative Richard A. Wise, of Virginia, to encourage the organization of industrial schools for the benefit of freemen in the south.

Associate Justice H. T. Lewis, of the supreme bench, presided. Resolutions were adopted congratulating Congressman Wise for presenting the bill and Congressman Grosvener, of Ohio, for his attitude in support of it. A committee was provided for to go before the educational committee of congress and urge the passage of the measure.

HARD PRESSING BRABANT

FIERCE FIGHTING ALL DAY YESTERDAY.

His Colonials Are Being Pushed on Every Sides, With Much Loss.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Aliwal North, April 10—The Boers attacked Brabant. His force of two or three thousand colonials had fierce fighting all day yesterday. The losses on both sides are heavy. The fighting was resumed today. Three Boer commands are attacking the town. The result is unknown. The Boers used Vickers and Maxim at first and did considerable execution. The British guns soon got the range, and caused great havoc. The Boer commanders are hurrying from all sides to participate in the attack.

MYSTERIOUS MOVEMENTS.

London, April 10—The Boers' attack on Brabant yesterday was delivered on all three sides. The British hold positions in rough country. The numbers of Boers are unknown. Reinforcements are reaching them. There are mysterious movements of the British troops at Bloemfontein, but correspondents are not allowed to wire about them. It is presumed that Roberts is making dispositions of troops to cut off raiding Boer forces when they attempt to withdraw to the Northward from pursuing the British forces.

BOERS ENCOURAGED.

They Practically Hold The Eastward From The Free State.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Bethulie, April 10—The Boers will try again to retake and destroy the bridge over the Orange river. Consequently extraordinary precautions are taken. The Boers practically again hold from the Free State eastward, and are greatly encouraged.

BOERS AT ST. HELENA

A Batch of Prisoners Arrived in Good Health.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Island St Helena, April 10—The Niobe and Milwaukee have arrived here with Boer prisoners. Their health is good, with the exception of measles, necessitating the Milwaukee's being quarantined. The prisoners are quiet and well behaved.

Judge Moore Appointed.

Governor Russell yesterday appointed Augustus Moore, of Pitt county, judge of the criminal court to succeed the late Dossey Battle, who died some days ago at his home in Rocky Mount. Judge Moore opened court in Mecklenburg today. C. A. Cook, of Warren, was first appointed but declined. Judge Moore is a Republican but never before held office.

Death of Jackson's Brother-in-Law.

The Rev. W. F. Junkin, of Mont Clair, N. J., died yesterday. He was 69 years old. His first pastorate was over the Presbyterian church at Falling Spring, Va. He entered as a private in the Confederate army and subsequently received a commission, which he resigned to become a chaplain. He was a brother-in-law of Thomas J. (Stonewall) Jackson and was with him when the general fell at the battle of Chancellorsville.

The New York Times says that John R. McLean, owner of The Cincinnati Enquirer, and brother-in-law of Admiral Dewey, has engaged elaborate headquarters at one of the leading Kansas City hotels for the democratic convention in July. The rooms are very choice, and it is rumored that they will be used as Dewey's headquarters.

HEAVY COMANDING THIS MORNING

THE BOERS HAVE BEEN POSTING HEAVY GUNS FOR THE WORK

Buller Probably Began an Attack This Morning on the Fortified Places.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Pietermaritzburg, April 10—Heavy cannonading commenced this morning in the vicinity of Elanlalgaate. The Boers ventured south of Biggarsburg and posted heavy guns four miles north of Elanlalgaate and fortified the vicinity of Wessels. Probably Buller has engaged Boers who have been posting guns near Elanlalgaate.

The House Committee Recommends The Senate Amendments.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Washington, April 10—The Senate agreed unanimously to vote on the Quay case two weeks from today for the afternoon.

The ways and means committee by the strict party vote of 8 to 5 decided to report the combined tariff and civil government bill for Porto Rico and will recommend concurrence in the Senate amendments.

NO ANGLO-FRENCH WAR.

A Paris Newspaper Says the Probability is Now Passed.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Paris April 10—The Figaro says the eventuality of an Anglo-French war has disappeared. The attitude of the French government all along has been most just and irreproachable. The Polemics and provocations of the press are now over, and the relations of the cabinets of the two countries are smoother.

A Little Bit Too Sensitive.

This cold, hard world has few souls as sensitive as a young man who killed himself in Paris the other day. His home was in Lyons, and his father had given to him 30,000 francs, or $6,-000, to establish a branch office of their business in Paris. After he had been in Paris for several days his letters home ceased, and he disappeared from the little circle of friends that he had made. He had seemed a quiet, steady fellow, and he had chosen his new associates with discretion. When they missed him, they wrote to his father, supposing that he knew where his son was. The father, however, was ignorant of the young man's whereabouts, and the police were summoned and a search made of his apartments. On the bed in his room was found his dead body, with a note by his side, which said:

"I have lost 25,000 francs of the sum that my father intrusted to me, and as I would not have it believed that I have squandered the money I am killing myself." This furnished a clew, but nothing more could be learned for several days. Finally, when searching the rooms for the young man's property, his pocketbook, with the 25,000 francs, was found in a corner of the bureau drawer, where he had put it and then forgotten.

We believe that Chamberlains's Cough Remedy is the best in the world. MR WHITNEY TALKS.

Declares He Had Nothing to Do With Dewey's Declaration

New York Dispatch, 6th.

William C. Whitney said today that all statements suggesting that he has had to do with the candidacy of Admiral Dewey for the presidency are without foundation. He said:

"I do not consider myself as so related to politics at present as to be entitled to assist in making candidates. I have the profoundest admiration for Admiral Dewey. It came naturally to me from my acquaintance with the admiral when I was Secretary of the Navy. I take great pride in his reputation, but I have no knowledge of and nothing to do with the recent announcement. I believe it to be the act of the admiral himself. His nature is simple and straightforward and he has doubtless been solicited to become a candidate by thousands of people who would like to see him president I imagine that if you get at the real truth you will find that to be the reason of his announcement."

THE EXODUS OF COOKS.

Thinks They Will Find Much Greater Hardships Than Here Exist.

Concord Standard.

Behold the cook agent was about and we knew it not. When Charlotte caught on it came out. But probably nobody cares very much.

If the Northern people want our negroes and can do better for them than the Southern people by all means let them have them, and if they want to go for better or for worse, by all means let them go. With the exception of the old time slave darkey there are few that appreciate the kindly efforts for their benefit. We think, however that when they get into their new Northern homes they will find the social equality door as tightly closed there as here with less tolerance for their peculiarities and a closer exaction to have every penny earned than is required here.

It is proverbial, too and well demonstrated during our late war experience that the Northern people turn with more violence upon the negro under provocation than the Southern people.

We doub, not that good cooks who are attentive to duty and reliable will be appreciated in the North for they are in the South, but let no one be persuaded that a Yankee is going to put up with less faithful service than a Southerner.

We repeat that we care not a whit how many of the cooks go and better themselves, but we would rather not see the pleasant relations of faithful ones with their employers broken up by some agents in the work for the money in it for himself rather than for any betterment of the condition of those whom he entices away.

We hope, however, that every one who is dissatisfied and anxious to try the experiment may go.

OUR UNFORTUNATES.

Some days ago the Telegram copied an account of how a poor crazy woman who was being taken to the asylum, in her raving madness, beat her head against the car and cursed and raved in so terrible a manner. She had been confined in a county home, and before that was doubtless guarded and watched at her own home without treatment, till it became no longer possible to do so.

This is the terrible tale of so many poor creatures, particularly women By overwork and loneliness and unsatisfied longing and monotonous drudgery their reason is dethroned. Their families in so many cases both poor and ignorant, know not what to do or are unable to do what they know, keep them on, and watch them or shut them up, hoping that they will get better; but they do not, and then perhaps they are pronounced hopelessly insane and confined in a jail or in the out house of a county home. And here the terrible darkness grows darker, till what might have been a curable malady, has become raving madness.

The State should have enough hospital room to accommodate and instantly treat every case that arrises within her borders. Less than this is criminal, no matter how much has already been done. Less is unworthy a great State. It is an everlasting, a burning, blistering, brutal, shame that there are now in the bounds of the territory of the Western Hospital between 300 and 500 cases of insane people who are in county homes and jails; and it is even a yet more burning shame that the directors of this Hospital are compelled to go before legislative committees continuously and beg the pitiful sum which is now given by the State. Every cent needed should be given for this great work, and the legislator who refuses to vote for it, deserves to be dropped by his constituents. Will not the State some way rescue, partially at least, from everlasting ruin the 300 or 500 persons in this division of the State's population that now are suffering for medical treatment? The Hospital directors are not supplicants, as was suggested in an article copied into this paper from the Charlotte Observer yesterday, and when they go before the legislative committees they ought not to be forced into the position of asking for personal favors. North Carolina's work for the unfortunate has been great, but it must be better.

General Otis is coming home. He is hardly likely to take the platform for the purpose of telling how to suppress an insurrection.

"Great men change their minds," says a writer in the Washington Post. Yes, but mind changing is not an infallible sign of greatness.

After tomorrow many a "prominently mentioned" man for a State office will quietly settle down to something just as good in his own county.

The Hon. Webster Davis opened his campaign in behalf of the Boers in Washington Sunday night. We have not yet heard of the expected rise in Boer stocks, however.

The Rev. Ira W. Kimmel of Washington has discovered that there is no difference in committing suicide by means of a pistol and by means of cigarettes. He might add that it doesn't make much difference either which route is selected.

One Samuel J. Crawford emerges from a rat hole of obscurity and remarks that the people of the United States have no business feeding the starving subjects of despotic Britian in India. Samuel undoubtedly has the right to look the other way when the collection basket is making its rounds.

Senator Pritchard yesterday invited President McKinley to visit North Carolina during the 20th of May celebration at Charlotte. He should be asked to come along to Greensboro with General Joe Wheeler on the 4th of July, to help in the battle ground celebration and certainly we will be able to put him on one or the other of the occasions.

SECOND ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE.

Morganton Letter. 6th. to Raleigh Post

Mr. James Ruffin, who, it will be remembered, attempted suicide in New Orleans about six months ago and was brought to the Western Hospital here for treatment, has again tried to take his life. Ever since his confinement in the Hospital he has kept close within its walls, refusing to go out for exercise or recreation, though often encouraged to do so by his physicians. But yesterday afternoon he was induced to take a drive towards the South Mountains, with an attendant with him. The attendant reports that they had gone about five miles, when, on coming to a stream, Mr. Ruffin asked him to get out of the buggy and let down the rein that the horse might drink. He had no sooner gotten out of the buggy than Ruffin struck the horse with a whip and dashed up the mountain in a gallop, in a few moments disappearing from view.

The attendants followed for several miles, but gave up the chase and came back to report to Dr. Murphy. He did not reach the hospital until late last night This morning Drs. Taylor and Cambell, with guard, went in pursuit. About ten miles from here, in a mountain cabin, they found Ruffin, almost bled to death, with both wrists cut and two horrible gashes across his breast.

He had purchased a knife from a mountaineer as he drove along the road, going some distance after doing so, then literally he cut the harness off the horse, carefully tied him to a tree and set about his own destruction. From the last report heard he was alive, but too weak to be moved to the Hospital at any time, and the announcement of his death is expected any time.

Mr Ruffin is the grandson of Judge Ruffin, the distinguished Chief Justice whose epitaph is written in the North Carolina reports. He comes from one of the oldest and best families in the State. Before his mind gave way under the press of business he owned and controlled large manufacturing interests in the State. Nothing could be sadder than to think of the bright future that lay before him a short time ago and his present deplorable condition.

Associated Press Dispatch.

Philadelphia, April 9—One of the greatest demonstrations of sympathy ever shown in this city for any foreign nation, took place tonight when the Academy of Music was jammed with people for the purpose of taking part in the Philadelphia school boys' pro-Boer rally. The primary object of the gathering was to send a message of greeting to President Kruger, signed by 22,000 pupils of the schools of this city. So great was the rush, mostly of the younger generation, that many thousand was unable to get near the doors and the mass of struggling people was entertained by music, while the meeting inside was in progress.

After the speech making, James F. Smith, a 16-year-old messenger boy of the American District Telegraph Company, of New York, was called to the stage and was given a message signed by the school boys with instructions to proceed to Pretoria, and to hand it personally to President Kruger. The messenger, accompanied by a committee of three High School boys, left New York tonight and will sail Wednesday on the steamship St. Louis, and before the vessel reaches Southampton he will be taken off by a French tender and landed at Havre, France, in order to avoid English territory.

In the Dressing Room.

Baltimore American.

Miss Footlite was "Making-up" when Miss Sue Brette called.

"I am holding the mirror up to nature," gayly remarked Miss Footlite, as she opened the powder box.

"You'd better get some powder on quick, or you will break the glass," wrs the polite reply of Miss Brette, who had failed to draw an encore to her sentiment song, "Tis a Picture No Kodak Can Take."

Among Friends.

Philadelphia North American.

"I am a British subject," he said, as he signed the register with a flourish.

"All right," replied the hotel clerk; "if I notice any Boers lurking about, I'll give you the tip to rush to cover."

FREE BLOOD CURE.

Ulcers, cancers, eating sores, Painful swellings, effects of blood poison, persistent eruptions, that refuse to heal under ordinary treatment are quickly cured by B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm), the most wonderful blood purifier of the age, made especially to cure all terrible obstinate deep-seated blood and skin troubles. Is your blood thin? Are you pale? All run down? Have you eczema? Pimples? Blotches and bumps? Skin or scalp humors? Boils? Eruptions? Skin itches and swollen? Aching bones? Rheumatism? Catarrh? Then you need B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm), because it drains from the blood and entire system all the poisons and humors which cause all of these troubles, and the cause being removed, a permanent cure follows. B. B. B. thoroughly tested for thirty years, and thousands cured after doctors and patent medicines had failed. For sale by druggists and Howard Gardner in Greensboro at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address Blood Balm Co., Atlanta Ga.

The Show Is Coming.

The first show of the season will visit this place on Monday, April 16th. Surely this item of news will please the young folk, the children and the older ones also. Sun Bros.' World's Progressive Show is one that has a standing record for presenting a good performance in one big ring, in the good old style. Sun Bros. run their show strictly on business and moral principles. Nothing is permited to appear that will mar the pleasure of the skeptically inclined. Neither are the usual army of fakirs (often seen following in the wake of shows) allowed to to follow this organization. The long-standing reputation of the Sun Bros. throughout America, and the Dominion of Canada shall not be jeapordized by allowing any catch-penny affair to be connected with their show. Fifty great celebrated artists will appear at every performance. Fully two hours and one-half of enjoyment is afforded for 25 cents, a price which is surely within the means of everyone. Let all attend. Afternoon at 1 o'clock, and evenings at 8 o'clock. —Advertisement.

FOR THE BABIES.

There is no better medicine for the babies than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Its pleasant taste and prompt and effectual cures make it a favorite with mothers and small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds, preventing pneumonia or other serious consequences. It also cures croup and has been used in tens of thousands of cases without a single failure so far as we have been able to learn It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. In cases of whooping cough it liquefies the tough mucous, making it easier to expectorate, and lessens the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, thus depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences. For sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

REMARKABLE CURE OF RHEUMATISM.

Kenna, Jackson Co., W. Va.

About three years ago my wife had an attack of rheumatism which confined her to her bed for over a month and rendered her unable to walk a step without assistance, her limbs being swollen double their normal size. Mr. S. Maddox insisted on my using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and used it according to the directions and the next morning she walked to breakfast without assistance in any manner, and she has not had a single attack since.—A B. Parsons. For sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

FREE OF CHARGE.

Any adult suffering from a cold settled on the breast, bronchitis, throat or lung troubles of any nature, who will call at Grissom & Fordham's, will be presented with a sample bottle of Boschee's German Syrup, free of charge. Only one bottle given to one person, and none to children without order from parents. No throat or lung remedy ever had such a sale as Boschee's German Syrup in all parts of the civilized world. Twenty years ago millions of bottles were given away, and your druggist will tell you its success was marvelous. It is really the only throat and lung trouble generally endorsed by physicians. Only 75-cent bottle will cure or prove its value. Sold by dealers in all civilized countries

A THOUSAND TONGUES.

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard st., Philadelphi, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"it soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. Kings' New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

Seven Sutherland Sisters

18 Desbrosses Street, New York City.

The greatest danger to life in the city is not the car with its clanging gong, but those silent invisible foes, the germs of disease. The prevalence of consumption in cities is stated to be largely due to the frequent expectoration of diseased persons, whose dried sputa mixed with the dust and blown into the air, is inhaled by some luckless man or woman. Sanitation may minimize these perils but can never obliterate them. The essential thing is to educate every person to the knowledge that the germ can find no permanent lodgment in a healthy body. Keep the blood pure, the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition in sound health and you are practically germ proof.

This disease resisting condition is obtained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It purifies the blood, strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves, and heals the lungs. Even when there is obstinate cough, bronchitis, spitting of blood and other conditions, which, if neglected, lead to consumption, the faithful use of Golden Medical Discovery will, in almost every instance, effect a cure.

"I was taken sick in July last year and was not able to do any kind of work until November," writes Mr. Noel W. Orvin, of Langley, Aiken Co., S. C. "Had been coughing up small, hard lumps of phlegm for about a year before I was taken down. I then called on a doctor, who said that one-half of my left lung was gone, and advised me to leave my home and go to the country. I wrote to you for advice. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I sincerely believe has done me more good than all the other medicines I have ever taken."

A Little Problem in PER CENT.

You are building a house to cost, fitted up with common hardware and mantels say $2,000. Substitute fine builders hardware, hardwood mantels, handsome grates and tiles at an additional cost of say $100.00. Total cost $2100.00, or 5 per cent more than originally allowed.

Then compare the two and decide if your home, with the fine Hardware, Mantels, etc., is not worth fully $2500.00 to sell, to rent or to live in. SCROFULA

The Blighting Disease of Heredity.

In many respects Scrofula and Consumption are alike; they develop from the same general causes, both are hereditary and dependent upon an impure and impovished blood supply. In consumption the disease fastens itself upon the lungs; in Scrofula the glands of the neck and throat swell and suppurate, causing ugly running sores; the eyes are inflamed and weak; there is an almost continual discharge from the ears, the limbs swell, bones ache, and white swelling is frequently a result, causing the diseased bones to work out through the skin, producing indescribable pain and suffering. Cutting away a sore or diseased gland does no good; the blood is poisoned. The old scrofulous taint which has probably come down through several generations has polluted every drop of blood.

Scrofula requires vigorous, persistent treatment. The blood must be brought back to a healthy condition before the terrible disease can be stopped in its work of destruction. Mercury, potash and other poisonous minerals usually given in such cases do more harm than good; they ruin the digestion and leave the system in a worse condition than before.

S. S. S. is the only medicine that can reach deep-seated blood troubles like Scrofula. It goes down to the very roots of the disease and forces every vestige of poison out of the blood. S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known. The roots and herbs from which it is made contain wonderful blood purifying properties, which no poison, however powerful, can long resist. S. S. S. stimulates and purifies the blood, increases the appetite, aids the digestion and restores health and strength to the enfeebled body. If you have reason to think you have Scrofula, or your child has inherited any blood taint, don't wait for it to develop, but begin at once the use of S. S. S. It is a fine tonic and the best blood purifier and blood builder known, as it contains no poisonous minerals. S. S. S. is pre-eminently a remedy for children

SAVE THE CHILDREN.

When my daughter was an infant she had a severe case of Scrofula, for which she was under the constant care of physicians for more than two years. She was worse at the end of that time, however, and we almost despaired of her life. A few bottles of Swift's Specific cured her completely, as it seemed to reach the bottom of the trouble. I do not believe it has an equal for stubborn cases of blood diseases which are beyond the power of other so-called blood remedies. S. I. BROOKS, Monticello, Ga.

Our medical department is in charge of experienced physicians who have made Scrofula and other blood diseases a life study. Write them about your case, or any one you are interested in. Your letter will receive prompt and careful attention. We make no charge whatever for this.

ROBERT HARDY'S SEVEN DAYS

A DREAM AND ITS CONSEQUENCES.

By Rev. CHARLES M. SHELDON.

Author of "In His Steps," "The Crucifixion of Philip Strong," "Malcom Kirk," Etc.

[Copyright, 1900, by Advance Publishing Co.]

CHAPTER VIII.

Robert finished most of the work, toiling as never in all his life before, and started for home at 6. On the way he made inquiries concerning George, but nobody had seen him since the evening before. When he reached the house, he found that his wife, utterly worn out, had lain down for a little sleep, and Alice was caring for the patients with a calm courage and quiet cheerfulness that revealed the girl's strong, self reliant character. Clara's condition had not changed. She still lay as if sleeping. Alice reported that once in the afternoon she had moved her lips and distinctly called for water. Mr. Hardy and Bess sat down to the supper table by themselves, and Bess again told how she had been saved from even a scratch in that terrible fall. It was indeed remarkable that the child did not seem to suffer even from the general shock and reaction from the disaster.

After a brief meal Mr. Hardy went up stairs to Clara again. His chief anxiety now was for her. He believed that if the doctor's fears were realized she would become insane. It was not possible that a person of her temperament and passion could be otherwise in case she should come to consciousness of her condition.

As the evening wore on Mr. Hardy felt that his duty lay in his own home for that night, and he would have to see his minister some other time. He thought of the prayer meeting with regret and sat by the bed of the unconscious girl wondering how it was possible that for all these years gone by he had been so indifferent to one of the best and most precious opportunities for growing in spiritual manhood. He heard the bell ring for service, and when it stopped he sat with his face in his hands praying.

The prayer meeting in Mr. Jones' church was generally a very quiet affair. A good many people in the church, especially those who came to the meeting only occasionally, thought it was stupid. But it was a noticeable fact that those who attended regularly were the ones who did the most work in the church and the ones who grew stronger and sweeter in the Christian life. There was usually no regular subject given out. There was very little talking done. From beginning to close it was nearly all prayer. Mr. Jones did not feel afraid of the long pauses. He believed modern American life to be so full of nervousness and hurry that it would not hurt any one to sit still and think a minute or two.

That was the reason so many people called Mr. Jones' prayer meetings dull, because they were not rushing all the time with sensational or exciting remarks and incidents. Mr. Jones didn't believe that was what a prayer meeting was for, and he planned for it accordingly. But this particular evening was an exception. The great railroad accident so near them had stirred the entire community to its sympathetic depths. Several families in Mr. Jones' church had been sufferers. As if by tacit consent there was an unusually large gathering at the church, and the subject was of necessity the recent disaster.

It was a spontaneous meeting. The minister briefly opened with the expressed desire that God would bless the suffering, prepare the dying and comfort the living, and almost instantly a service of prayer began, which was like a flood in its continuous outpouring. The people seemed urged by some irresistible feeling to relieve the pent up strain of the day in prayer, and such prayers had not been heard in that church for many years.

A similar scene was witnessed near the White River Junction railroad disaster in 1887 in a church near the accident. The entire morning service was given up to prayer, which seemed the only healthy relief to people suffering from an overwhelming horror.

It was during the first pause that occurred that James Caxton opened the door and gave a note to some one in the back seat with a request that it be sent up to Mr. Jones. He then turned as if to go out, but hesitated, came back and slipped into a vacant seat and waited. Mr. Jones received the note, glanced at its contents and then rose. There was a singular emotion in his voice as he spoke.

"I have just been handed a note from one of our members, Mr. Robert Hardy, with the request that I read it aloud to the church tonight:

To You, My Dear Pastor, and You, My Brothers and Sisters In Christ:

I suppose it is known to most of you that three of my children were on the train during the recent accident, and two of them escaped with but slight injuries. But my daughter Clara was seriously injured by the shock, and I am at this moment seated by her side praying that her reason may be spared and her possible injuries prove to be within the region of cure.

I had planned to be with you tonight. I wanted to tell the church of the change that I have lately experienced. I do not need to tell you that for the 25 years that I have been a member of the church I have been a member only in name. I have seldom appeared in any of the spiritual or devotional services of the church. I have often sat in an attitude of criticism to the best preaching. I have been a hard man with those in my employ. I have been cold and even revengeful toward other members of this church. I have been a very proud, un-Christian, selfish man.

In the sight of God I have been an altogether unworthy member of the church of Christ. I do not take any pride to myself in making this confession, but I feel that it is due to you, and something tells me I shall have more peace of mind if I speak to you as I have lately prayed to God.

It is not necessary, neither have I time nor strength, to tell you how I have been brought to see my selfishness in all its enormity. It is enough if I say to you that I most sincerely believe that I have misunderstood very largely the right meaning of human existence. I want to pray with you and for you. You will let me say this also, bearing with me, as this may be my last opportunity to say to you what lies in my heart: Serve the church of Christ, all you who have taken upon you its vows, with enthusiasm and loyalty. Stand by the superintendent of the Sunday school, attend this week night service when you can, making it the most important service of the week, and, more than all, live true, simple, loving Christian lives every day.

It may seem strange that I am preaching like this to you who have probably done your duty far better than I ever did, but I wish to say what lies deep in my heart to say tonight. If there are any young men in the meeting tonight, I want to say to them, become Christians at the core, not in name simply, as I have been, and, above all, kneel down every morning, noon and night and pray to God to keep you from a selfish life—such a life as I have lived—forgetful of church vows, of the rights of the working poor, of the brother and sister in Christ. Yes, I would be willing that any young man might say, "O Lord, keep me from living as selfish and useless and proud a life as Robert Hardy once lived!" For that is the truth. No one but God knows how I have suffered at the thought of the past, how I am suffering at the present moment.

I pray that any who are afflicted at this present time may find peace in him who bore the world's sorrows in his great heart of love. If it were not for my faith in my Saviour at this time, I should be in despair. As it is, I am suffering, but it is not the suffering which follows an eclipse of hope. I believe in the eternal life and in the forgiveness of sins, yes, even such sins as mine have been. Forgive so much about myself. It is necessary under the circumstances. I ask your prayers for me as your petitions go up for the afflicted and repentant everywhere. I am, your brother in Christ, ROBERT HARDY.

C. O. FORBIS,

120 EAST MAKET St.

Next Door Below Soutern Loan & Trust Company

The impression made by the reading of this letter was profound. The stillness that followed was deathlike. Then one of the oldest men in the room rose and in a prayer of great power prayed for the absent man and thanked God for his guided strength. The prayer was followed by others, and then one and another of the members who had not been on really good terms with Mr. Hardy arose and confessed and asked forgiveness. The hearts of the people were greatly moved. Mr. Jones, contrary to his usual habit, asked as the meeting drew to a close if there were any present who wanted to begin that Christian life at the core of which Mr. Hardy spoke.

"I see a number here not professing Christians. Are there any who would like to say that they want to become Christians and will try to live the Christ life every day?"

In the pause that followed James Caxton, who had been sitting in the back seat, felt as if some power within and without him were forcing him to his feet. He grasped his chair as if to hold himself down, but the Holy Spirit whispered to him, "Son, this will be the beginning of a new life to thee."

And so James Caxton arose and said he wanted to be a Christian, and from that moment he dated his strong, consecrated life, a life that bids fair to become famous in the world yet, and his action was the beginning of a new life in that church and community, but we cannot dwell on that in the course of this history.

Oh, Robert Hardy, the good God is blessing thee in this thy week of trial!

And so James Caxton arose and said he wanted to be a Christian.

For was it not thy word that first started this young, manly soul to consider what he owed to Jesus the Christ?

To come back to Robert. He had written the note, beginning it just a little after the bell ceased ringing, and as he finished James had come over to see if he could be of any service. The church was near by, and Mr. Hardy asked him to take the note over. He went over to the church, with the result described. He did not come back at once, and Mr. Hardy watched on with Alice.

Will slept irregularly, being troubled with his dreams of the accident. Mrs. Hardy woke and begged her husband to lie down and get a little rest. He did so, but was aroused about 10 o'clock by the doctor coming in. He had just finished a visit near by. He saw the light and was anxious, as the case was an extraordinary one, to come in. He examined Clara's face keenly and then sat down by the bed for an instant. After giving certain medicines he found that he was in need of another article, which was at his house.

"I will go and get it, doctor. It's not far, and I think a little fresh air will do me good and help me to remain awake better," said Robert.

He went down stairs, and the doctor followed him as he went out into the hall and flung on his overcoat. Mr. Hardy turned before he opened the door:

"Doctor, tell me the truth about my girl? What is her condition?"

"It is serious, but more than that I cannot say. There is a possibility that by means of a slight operation the disastrous consequences of the shock to her eyes may be averted, and it is possible that the other results which I hinted may be altogether different. It is not in medical power to decide with certainty."

So Mr. Hardy went out into the night with a glimmer of hope in his breast. It was snowing again, and a strong wind was blowing, so he buttoned his big coat close up, drew his hat down over his brows and, leaning forward, walked as rapidly as he could against the wind in the direction of the doctor's house. The streets were almost deserted. The lights at the corners flickered and showed pale through the lamps.

As he turned down a narrow street, intending to make a short cut across a park that lay near the doctor's, he was suddenly seized by three or four young men, and one of them said in a tone which betrayed a drunken debauch:

"Hold up your hands and deliver! You've got plenty of chink, and we haven't! So no squalling, or we'll shoot you for it!"

Mr. Hardy was taken completely by surprise. But he was a vigorous, athletic man, and his first impulse was to shake himself loose, to knock down two of his assailants next to him and make a run for it. His next glance, however, showed him the nature of the group of young men. They were not professional robbers, but young men about town who had been drinking late and were evidently out on a lark and were holding him up just for fun.

Mr. Hardy guessed exactly right. What could he do? Two of the young men were known to him, the sons of the Bramleys, who were well to do people in Barton. Mr. Hardy's next impulse was to discover himself to them and beg then to quit such dangerous fooling and go home. The three other young men were in shadow, and he could not tell them. All this passed through his thought with a flash. But before he had time to do anything a police officer sprang out of a doorway near by, and the group of young men, dropping their hold of Mr. Hardy, fled in different directions.

The officer made pursuit and after a short run captured one of the young men, whom, after vigorous resistance, he dragged back to where Mr. Hardy stood, exclaiming:

"Here's one of the rascals, sir. I heard 'em when they held you up. We've been looking for this gang some time now. Just identify this one if he is the one that just now grabbed you, sir."

Under the light of the lamp the policeman dragged the form of his victim and roughly struck up his hat. At that instant Mr. Hardy looked into his face and cried out:

"George! Is it you?"

And the son replied as he started back:

"Father!"

The two looked at each other in silence, while the snow fell in whirling finkes about them.

And this was the end of Robert Hardy's third day.

SEVEN RUNNING SORES CURED

—BY—

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

QUART BOTTLES.

THE GREAT SPRING MEDICINE.

JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA as a Blood Food and Nerve Energizer, is the greatest SPRING MEDICINE ever discovered. It comes as a rich blessing from heaven to the "worn out," the run down, the overworked and debilitated. That "tired feeling," those "sinking spells," the languor and despondency which arise from badly nourished nerves, from thin, vitiated blood and an underfed body, vanish as if by a magic spell. The weariness, lassitude and nervous prostration which accompany the spring-time and the heat of summer, are conquered and banished at once. For every form of neurasthenia, and all ailments of the brain and nerve, insomnia, hysteria and nervousness generally, it is almost a specific. It furnishes the very elements to rebuild worn-out nerve tissues. It feeds brain, nerve centers and nerves, calming and equalizing their action; it makes rich, red, honest blood. Newness of life, new hope, new strength follow its faithful use. It makes the weak strong, and the old young again.

It was the antiquated (but now happily exploded) method in the good old times, to treat Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Cancer and other troublesome disorders arising from BLOOD TAINT with powerful alteratives, such as mercury, arsenic and other mineral agents. It was expected by this treatment that the poison could be killed while the blood was left to course through its channels holding in its circulation the specifte germs of the disease. But in this way, every part of the body became more or less diseased. Nothing can be more terrible than a horribly destructive blood taint. It not only attacks virulently the different structures of the body, but many times the bones are honey-combed and destroyed. It often seeks out the nerves and spinal cord, and again it will bring decay and death to some vital organ, as the kidneys, liver or stomach. There is only one scientific method for the cure of blood taint. That is, PURIFICATION! Every particle of the blood must be removed through the excretory channels, the lungs, kidneys, bowels, liver and skin. "First pure, then peaceable." The great restorative, reconstructive and vitalizer of the blood, JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA, not only radically and exhaustively removes the taint, but also removes all mercury, calomel and other minerals, and fills the veins and arteries with the ruby, glowing current of vitality. "The blood is the life." Good health means pure blood. The old and reliable remedy, JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA, is universally regarded as the greatest Blood Purifier ever discovered. This fact is now established beyond question or cavil.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE LINK THAT BINDS.

JACKSON, TENN., Nov. 23.

I was subject to miscarriage for three years, and suffered constantly with backache. I wrote to you for advice, and after using three bottles of Wine of Cardui, according to your directions, I am strong and well, and the mother of a fine girl baby.

Mrs. E. N. JOWERS.

McELREE'S

Wine of Cardui

There is no use talking—a baby in the house is the link that binds husband and wife together. Nothing is sadder than fruitless wedlock. The prattling and cooing of the little ones offset a thousand times the occasional worries and trials of life. When a wife is barren, there is a derangement somewhere in the genital organs, caused by one or more of those common disorders known as "female troubles". Wine of Cardui is the remedy. It puts the organs of generation in a strong and healthy condition, fitting the wife for the sacred duty of reproducing her kind. During the period of gestation the entire system of the expectant mother is built up to withstand the ordeal of labor, and when the little one makes its advent it is lusty and strong, well-titted to grow to maturity in perfect health. The mother, too, passes through the trial with little pain and no dread. Wine of Cardui is truly a wonderful medicine for women.

THE MAYOR PRO TEM.

Mr. J. S. Hunter Holds Court and Does Business.

His Honor J. S. Hunter, mayor pro tem, presided at the bar of justice this morning, and as a result of his findings three more cases will appear on the next criminal court docket.

Hiram Proctor was present to answer to the charge of assaulting one Bob Oakley with a knife, in which a horrible gash was made in the latter's trousers. Proctor did not deny the charge and the mayor commanded the defendant to make further answer to the charge before the next term of superior court, placing the bond at $50.

Next, the same Bob Oakley, whose trousers were so seriously rent by the point of Proctor's knife was tried on a charge of stealing a pint of liquor and a quarter of a dollar from the said Proctor. Proctor said it happened about as follows: "We fellows was in the back lot and were drinking some, and there was a nigger there who fiddles. We had him fiddlin' and when he quit he wanted five cents. I told him I didn't have any five cents, but I gave him fifty cents and told him to get me a pint of liquor and get the change. I never saw the money or the liquor. The nigger said he gave the liquor and the money to Oakley and I saw Oakley have some money in his hand."

Oakley said he didn't get the money, but that he handed Proctor the bottle of liquor and that he broke it in scuffling over it. Mr. Hunter said the superior court should investigate this case, too, and bond was fixed at $50.

Isham Brinkley was bound over to court in a bond of $100 for stealing a shot gun and lantern from Mr. J. W. Landreth.

Court adjourned to meet again when some warrants are served.

HYDRANTS STOPPED UP.

Matters That Should Receive Prompt Attention.

Complaint is made by the members of the fire department that some of the hydrants in the city are in a condition that renders them of no service. It is said that the hydrant on West Market street in front of Greensboro Female College is stopped up and water cannot be drawn from it. The hydrant on Spring street near Mr. A. T. Robinson's residence is in the same condition.

It is also alleged that the hydrant at the corner of West Gaston and Edgeworth streets was covered up entirely by the recent street work there and is therefore of absolutely no service. The work was done over a year ago and the hydrant has remained buried ever since.

These things should receive prompt attention. There is too much at stake. Much valuable property is located near each of these places, and in case of fire the result would be disastrous. The water company charges for all the hydrants in the city and they should be kept in working order whether needed or not. Somebody is guilty of negligence.

Stole a Hand Car.

Night before last four white men and a negro broke into the section house at Guilford College and stole a hand car, making their way to within four miles of Winston, where they left the car. They left some lotters or papers on the car which were turned over to officers in Winston Yesterday four white men were arrested in Winston, having in their possessions some documents corresponding in names and handwriting to the ones found on the car. They were given a hearing and bound over to court. They implicated a colored man, who has not yet been arrested.

Boston and Greensboro.

The Bostons will play "Greensboro" Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. The "Greensboro" team will be composed of the extra men which the Boston's carry, but they will fight as valliantly for the name and fame of Greensboro as if they were the home team in fact. Manager Seelee says it will be a lively game. The admission will be 25 cents, and ladies free.

This will be the last appearance of the Bostons in our city, as they leave that night for Washington to play Princeton College, then to Norfolk to meet Yale. The manager is highly satisfied with the southern trip. The weather has been fine and the team has done good work.

Help or They Perish.

The Roller Rolling.

The new road roller was taken to Scott's siding, near the Normal College, this afternoon where it will be unloaded and carried to the road now being macadamized. It will be unloaded by its own power, steam having been gotten up for that purpose. The engineer says it will climb a ten per cent. grade.

Attention Firemen.

The members of the fire department will please take notice that the annual meeting for the election of officers will take place in Firemen's Hall, Friday night, 13th inst. at 8 o'clock.

SOME THINGS NOT IN RALEIGH.

Many People Are Gone But Something Happens Though.

Mr. J. L. Thacker is now in the northern markets purchasing goods for the popular firm of Thacker & Brockmann.

A young horse belonging to Andrews & Sockwell, left standing in front of their store yesterday afternoon, became frightened and ran away, doing but little damage, however, beyond slightly injuring itself.

Mr. Howard Sterrett who was severly injured in the recent wreck on the Durham & Charlotte railroad, near Gulf, is rapidly improving, and hopes to be out soon. This will be good news to his many friends here.

The trial of Jane Black and John Hadley yesterday afternoon for retailing resulted in binding them over to court. Jane gave bond, but Hadley languishes in jail. Ed Morehead, up on a similar charge, was dismissed.

Dr. Edmond Harrison writes a friend here that he expects to soon return to Greensboro to live. Dr. Harrison made many friends here while in charge of the smallpox situation, and will be given a hearty welcome.

The Oak Ridge baseball teams have been hammering away at the University teams for the last ten years and have at last defeated them. They say they will do it again next Saturday. Go out and help them by "rooting" for them.

Mr. Samuel Johnson and Mrs. Mattie Sullivan, both of Proximity, were married at the residence of Mr. John E. McKnight Sunday morning at nine o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Mr. McKnight, he being a justice of the peace.

The Weather.

For North Carolina: Cloudy and warmer tonight with rain, increasing east winds.

STATEMENT FROM PROF. HOLT.

Thanks His Guilford County Friends For Their Complimentary Suggestion.

To the Editor of the Telegram.

Referring to the fact that my name has been mentioned by the kindness of my friends for the nomination for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, I wish to say that I am pledged to the support of the present incumbent of that office, Hon. C. H. Mebane, if it is expedient for the Democrats to take him up. I have so expressed myself in print and I know no reason now for changing my mind. Of course I do not know what the temper of the convention may be. I thank my Guilford county friends for their kind and complimentary suggestion.

Respectfully,

THE VANSTORY CLOTHING CO.

They Open Today With New Goods, a New Store and New Firm.

What was the C. M. Vanstory & Co., which was burned out during last January, opened up today in the same stand, with a new building, new firm and new goods. The building which was a total wreck, save the walls which were badly damaged, has been rebuilt and many improvements have been made. The clever and popular gentlemen who compose the new firm are well known here and need no recommendation. They have spared no effort to get the best on the market, and their stock shows the result. Everything is new and fresh and the store presents a pleasing appearance. The second story is devoted to summer goods, hats, etc., while down stairs you can find everything carried by an up-to-date clothing and furnishing house.

They propose to sell strictly for cash and give their patrons the benefit of the money before lost on bad accounts. Mr. Vanstory can sell goods as cheap as any one and he intends to do it. The new concern is known as the Vanstory Clothing Co., and is composed of the following gentlemen: C. M. Vanstory, W. G. Balsley, G. A. Rankin, T. L. McLean, J. Van Lindley, Jno. R Cutchin.

Next to the Consumer is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price is now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

And ours is the place to get the stuff.
